Innovations in the window, door & facade construction sector | 29 March - 1 April 2022 in Nuremberg

Energy efficiency and sustainability coupled with safety, design and comfort are the major requirements for product developments in windows, doors and facades. A visit to Nuremberg is essential for anyone wanting to update on the international market's innovations in compact form in one place. Here are 5 good reasons why it pays to visit FENSTERBAU FRONTALE, the world-leading exhibition for windows, doors and facades from 29 March - 1 April 2022:

1. This Exhibition has the right Profile

As world-leading exhibition for windows, doors and facades, FENSTERBAU FRONTALE is the sector's innovation driver. More than 800 well-known companies from 42 countries present products and solutions for the trend themes of sustainability, comfort, automation and energy efficiency. You just have to be there!

2. Two Events are better than one

The exhibition duo of FENSTERBAU FRONTALE and HOLZ-HANDWERK attracted around 111,000 decision-makers from all over the world in 2018. No other international trade fair offers more product information, more experts from architecture, industry, trade, craft trades and research, and more potential business leads in one place.

3. More is impossible

The Product range at FENSTERBAU FRONTALE caters to every wish. Here you get comprehensive information about profile systems, glass in architecture, shading, fixing equipment, sealing, safety equipment, machines and installations for manufacturing and processing windows, doors and facades. Make sure you don't miss this four-day show of worldwide innovations!

4. Know-how is on the Agenda here

Many special shows and events intensify professional exchange at FENSTERBAU FRONTALE. Whether you are interested in the special show "Energy Plus – Saving + Producing Energy with Windows, Facades and Glass", the "Real Estate Conference" or architecture – you're bound to meet others with the same interests at FENSTERBAU FRONTALE!

5. Convincing Figures speak for themselves

95% of the visitors from Germany and abroad can't be wrong: both the product range and the opportunities for information and contact at FENSTERBAU FRONTALE 2018 were more than satisfactory. Be there again in 2020 when the sector meets at its most important trade fair!
